“There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under the heavens, a time to be born and a time to die, a time to plant and a time to uproot...(Ecclesiastes 3:1-2)

Fall has arrived! This season is often viewed as a nostalgic time. It is filled with traditional activities, food and fun. A time of natural beauty, cooler temperatures and a winding down of a year’s work. Solomon would state “there is a time for everything and a season for every activity” (Ecclesiastes 3:1). What then is the purpose of fall?

Many have called fall a time of “provision”. The word “provision” deals with the fact or state of being prepared beforehand. Fall is time to prepare for the winter ahead. Our physical world is filled with many examples of this preparation. Farmers harvest crops and store them up for future use. Animals gather food and prepare shelters for the coming days. Nature sheds foliage in magnificent splendor to prepare for the coming winter.

Fall is also a time of “spiritual provision”. A time of preparing as we all head toward the winter of our lives. Fall presents us an opportunity to reflect, take inventory and prepare for the season ahead. May we all take Solomon’s advice and consider the ways of the ant (Proverbs 6:6-8).

Enjoy all that makes fall special...especially the comfort of knowing you’re prepared for the winter ahead!
