GOODBYE 2019...HELLO 2020?

Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. (Philippians 3:13-14).

How do you feel about the upcoming change from 2019 to 2020? Is it just numbers or is there more to it? I have always enjoyed the turning of the years (although as I get older...they seem to turn more frequently!). I view the divisions of time within a year (seconds/minutes/days) like a lap around my favorite trail. In past years, we've all experienced the months, holidays and events that we anticipate for 2020. The only question is how will we choose to experience them. My favorite trail leads me in the same circle every time. However, varying circumstances and my attitude make each experience different. Will you brace for or embrace the new year? Will you take advantage of opportunities or avoid them? Will you set and work to achieve new goals or just see what happens? I'm excited for 2020 not because it promises me anything but because it is another opportunity to cycle around that familiar old trail which will eventually lead to an eternity with my Lord. See you on the trail....
